Come, Thou long - ex - spect - ed Je - sus,
D                      A                      D
Born to set Thy peo - ple free;
D                                      G                      A
From our fears and sins re - lease us;
D                      A                      D
Let us find our rest in Thee.
D                                      G                      A
Is - rael's strength and con - so - la - tion,
D                                      Em                      A
Hope of all the earth Thou art;
D                      G                      D                      A
Dear de - sire of ev - 'ry na - tion,
D                      G                      D                      A                      D
Joy of ev - 'ry long - ing heart.

[ VERSE 2 ]      D                                      G                      A
Born Thy peo - ple to de - liv - er,
D                                      A                      D
Born a child, and yet a King,
D                                      G                      A
Born to reign in us for - ev - er,
D                                      A                      D
Now thy gra - cious king - dom bring.
D                                      G                      A
By thine own e - ter - nal Spir - it
D                                      Em                      A
Rule in all our hearts a - lone;
D                      G                      D                      A
By Thine all - suf - fi - cient mer - it
D                      G                      D                      A                      D
Raise us to Thy glo - rious throne.
